Reason for Test/Consult:Smoking Status:

WHAT IS FeNo: Fraction of Exhaled Nitric Oxide in human breath is a highly sensitive volatile mediator which serves as a highly sensitive marker for airway inflammation. FeNo measurements offer an extra tool to support clinical decisions when diagnosing, treating, and monitoring patients with asthma. FeNo measurements also serve as an objective reference to recognize loss of control with anti-inflammatory medication.

A Payment of $100.00 is due upon completion of the test. Cash or Debit
